01 PROFILE

I'm Hakim, a Full Stack Developer with over five years of experience specializing in Laravel, React.js, and Python. I am dedicated to building robust, intuitive web applications that enhance functionality and user engagement. My expertise includes creating dynamic, data-driven solutions with Laravel, interactive front-end experiences with React.js, and efficient back-end services with Python. Additionally, I develop custom automation tools, such as bots and web scrapers, to streamline processes and optimize data management for seamless user experiences.
